THE CHOSEN FEW

250 people to help shape council's spending plans

THE future public spending priorities of Harlow Council could soon be shaped by a small group of residents as part of controversial new consultation plans unveiled this week.

In a move that has already provoked an angry response from opposition parties, the Conservative administration has revealed it will pay independent research company Research Now to conduct a "face-to-face" survey of 250 people.

Researchers will ask those selected to take part to identify areas where they feel the council should spend more, where it should spend less and where they feel the right level of investment has already been found.

They will be asked questions covering all of the authority's main frontline services including waste and recycling, regeneration, parks and landscapes, street scenes and leisure.

The Tories claim similar surveys carried out in the private sector have proved highly effective and that a representative sample of the town's population will be consulted.

But Labour and Liberal Democrat councillors have branded the proposals "inadequate".

Liberal Democrat group leader Chris Millington told the Star: "I find it a little worrying that the Tories only think it necessary to survey 250 people about such an important, all-encompassing issue as public spending."

"But, then again, their consultation record since they took control of

Relief for pupils as toilets are repaired

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

BROKEN toilets at a Harlow primary school, which have been out of action since the end of the summer term, were finally repaired this week after parents complained to education chiefs.

Year 3 pupils have been unable to use wash-room facilities at Henry Moore School's on-site portable classrooms and, as a result, have had to cross the school grounds to use the toilets in the main building.

But the mother of one pupil told the Star: "My daughter came home from school one day in someone else's clothes because she had wet herself."

"Teachers were telling the children that they had to wait until the end of the lesson because they didn't have enough staff to take them to the main building during class. But they are seven not 16, so they can't always wait."

Another furious mum said that when she had contacted County Hall she was told the council was trying to employ another teaching assistant so that children could be accompanied to the main building.

"They've had long enough to do it," she fumed. "We knew about the problem before they broke up in the summer holidays. They need shaming because this is ridiculous."

The broken toilets were finally fixed on Monday after parents contacted Essex County Council to complain.

Headmistress Mary Evans said: "It was a problem for the local authority, not the school. The parents and the school have worked closely together to get the work done and it has now been done."

A county council spokeswoman said the delay was due to maintenance consultants not having all the parts required to carry out the work.

"The work has now been completed and the situation will be monitored over the coming weeks to ensure that the new system is working correctly," she added.

Schools receive a Tesco delivery

A SUPERMARKET campaign to provide equipment to local schools was given a helping hand by Harlow MP Bill Rammell on Monday.

Mr Rammell visited the town's three Tesco stores during which some of the schools who took part in the Schools and Clubs voucher scheme took delivery of their goods.

The Schools & Clubs scheme, which ran from March to June, combined the Computers for Schools and Sport for Schools & Clubs campaigns. More than £11m worth of equipment will be given to schools nationwide this year.

Mr Rammell, who was joined by teachers and pupils from Kingsmoor, Broadfields, William Martin and Hare Street schools, said: "I have always felt the schools in Harlow work really hard to collect the vouchers which earn them this extra equipment.

"Alongside huge investment in schools since 1997 which has seen the amount spent per pupil rise from £2,900 to over £5,850 today, this represents real improvement.

"I really enjoyed meeting all the teachers and pupils this week and I am sure the new equipment will be put to good use."

Chance to voice your view on housing plan

RESIDENTS will soon get the chance to have their say on plans for large-scale residential development on open countryside to the north of Harlow.

Public consultation on the proposals starts next Friday at the Harvey Centre in Harlow when, the joint venture of Land Securities and Places For People will hold a "community engagement" workshop.

Workshops will also be held in High Wych Memorial Hall next Saturday (October 17) and Widford Village Hall the following Friday (October 23) before returning to the Harvey Centre on Saturday, October 24.

Spokeswoman Mary Parsons said: "Over the next few months we will start engaging with local residents and other stakeholders to get a real understanding of the issues within the locality and ensure that any proposals are sensitive to local opinion."

Survey to help shape council budget plans

the council has been very poor.

"They completely ignored residents' concerns with the introduction of new car parking charges and took no notice of the 7,000-plus signatures on a petition to save Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice, so I'm sad to say this doesn't surprise me."

Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson added: "At a time when the Tories seem intent on cutting back services across the town, I fail to see why this couldn't be done much more effectively in-house rather than paying out taxpayers' money to employ an outside agency."

"How this agency will decide who to interview is anyone's guess, although - whoever they choose - only bothering to ask the opinions of 250 people in a town of over 78,000 makes the whole exercise woefully inadequate."

But council leader Andrew Johnson claimed the survey would go into great detail and provide the authority with a lot of useful information.

"Although 250 people may not sound like a lot to survey, it is a representative sample of the total population," he said.

"We will be listening to what local people are suggesting and this will help to inform our priorities and spending in the future."

"The results will enable us to look in more detail about how services could be improved or delivered differently."

Hospice planning a Santa-stic fun run!

COFFEE MATES: Several of the St Clare Santas take a break from their shopping to enjoy a cup of coffee at Esquires in The Water Gardens (photo: DHAR0600152)

WITH Christmas still 11 weeks away, the search has already started for Santa... but it's all in a good cause.

St Clare Hospice this week launched its first ever fundraising Santa Run. And organisers are hoping to repeat the success of this summer's Midnight Walk by recruiting as many Star readers as possible to take part.

The aim is to get hundreds of people – adults and children – to dress up as Father Christmas and run, jog, walk or even wheel round a 4km course in Harlow Town Park in December.

As an added incentive, the first 500 adults who sign up will get a free Santa suit and the first 100 youngsters will receive a free Santa hat.

Tracey Meale, events fundraiser for St Clare, said: "We can't wait; I'm getting excited just planning it."

"We always aim to put on events which are fun for our community to get involved in and which will help us raise vital funds for the work of the hospice."

Monday's launch caught many shoppers by surprise as Santas visited various town centre stores. They were seen shopping in Asda, enjoying a cup of coffee in Esquires and listening to music in HMV.

"We wanted to create a little curiosity and have some fun launching this event because to us that's what it's all about – having some fun, dressing up and hopefully raising money towards the care we provide free of charge each year," said Giles Wright, communications manager for St Clare.

"We certainly turned a few heads on Monday

The organisers have set a fundraising target of £23,000 which is enough to fund the hospice's inpatient unit for a whole week. The service is available 365 days a year for local people with life-limiting illnesses.

The Santa Run takes place on Sunday, December 6 starting at 11am. Registration is £15 for adults (16 years and above) and £5 for children.

First residents' forum a success

THE pilot session of a new neighbourhood forum designed to give residents a greater say in local decisions has been hailed a success by Harlow Council.

Around 80 people turned up at Great Parndon Community Centre to discuss a variety of issues at the first of the new multi-agency meetings.

The forum is an extension of the regular neighbourhood policing meeting and featured presentations from the police, the council, the Probation Service, the Youth Offending Team, Harlow Education Consortium and Essex County Council.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "We want to introduce a new way of talking to residents and give them a voice in decisions and services which affect them in their neighbourhood."

"This meeting was the first one as part of this commitment and if further meetings go well, we could see these introduced in other areas of town."

He said the meetings signalled the authority's determination to provide a "joined-up response" to local issues, adding: "Residents are not always clear about which organisation provides a particular service. They do not want to attend a number of meetings with different organisations to discuss issues," he added.

"If we want local people to have a real say in local decisions, it's important that we bring together all the organisations into one room along with residents."

A follow-up meeting is planned for early next year.

Firefighters protest as cuts row rumbles on

HARLOW firefighters staged a protest outside the town's fire station in Fourth Avenue on Thursday to oppose cuts to front-line services.

Members of the Fire Brigades Union lined up in a demonstration which was held on the day the cuts came into force.

Essex County Fire & Rescue Service said it was necessary to downgrade the way specialist emergency appliances are crewed in order to make efficiency savings in the wake of the recession.

But the union claimed cut-backs could be made elsewhere without compromising frontline service.

Firefighters have been engaged in industrial action since late August. The FBU has warned that a full-blown strike could be on the cards should talks to resolve the dispute fail.

FBU regional secretary Adrian Clarke said: "Just as night follows day, inevitably there will be occasions when all the fire engines at a fire station will be needed to deal with 999 emergencies but these cuts will mean we will not be able to respond, or there will be a delay due to a lack of firefighters."

● ESSEX County Fire and Rescue Service has sent a seven-strong team of experts to Indonesia to help in the aftermath of the earthquake which has devastated the region.

The team, who are trained to use specialist equipment which allows them to search for survivors in the wreckage of collapsed buildings, flew out from RAF Brize Norton in the early hours of Saturday.

Nobel Prize for STC fibre optics pioneer

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A FORMER Harlow scientist who pioneered work in the field of fibre optics has been awarded the 2009 Nobel Prize for physics.

Charles Kao (76) was for many years director of engineering at Standard Telecommunication Laboratories – now part of Nortel Networks – in London Road.

He was jointly awarded the prize for his groundbreaking work involving the transmission of light in fibre optics which he started at STC in the 1960s. It led to Harlow becoming known world-wide as the birthplace of optical fibre communications.

Today, optical fibres are used in the global communication industry. Light flowing along thin threads of glass carry almost all of the telephone and data communications at much higher speeds than previously possible.

Professor Kao, who was born in Shanghai, holds joint British and American citizenship. He was awarded a PhD in electrical engineering at London's Imperial College before moving to Harlow where he lived in Copse Hill.

He later became vice-chancellor of the Chinese University of Hong Kong before retiring in 1996.

Peter Newcombe, head of Metro Ethernet Networks at Nortel, said: "This is an absolutely deserved recognition for Charles Kao and the breakthrough work he did in fibre optics at our laboratories in Harlow."

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "I am delighted that Charles Kao has been awarded the Nobel Prize for his work on fibre optics. This valuable invention has transformed the way we live and do business and it started life in Harlow.

"The town has a strong tradition of innovation and is still home to many ground-breaking companies. I am delighted that someone who worked in Harlow for many years and has such strong associations with the town has received this honour."

In a BBC interview back in 2006 Professor Kao said: "At the time I told my annoyed wife, as I was always late home for dinner, that it could be a world shaking project! She told me to pull the other leg in absolute disbelief."

"I think I sensed it at the time but I knew I would need to convince the industry worldwide."

Also honoured were George Smith and Willard Sterling Boyle, inventors of the Charge-Coupled Device.

College receives £5m boost to create 100 new student places

HARLOW College is set to benefit from a £5m funding boost to help local people access higher education.

The college has been awarded the cash by the Higher Education Funding Council for England for its role as a centre for Anglia Ruskin University.

Harlow was one of nine centres nationally to receive cash from the initiative which aims to enhance learning opportunities.

About 100 new student places will be created at the college for the 2010-11 academic year.

The programme is designed to support students progressing from further to higher education, help the college forge links with local businesses and provide courses that meet local students' needs.

University vice-chancellor Professor Michael Thorne said: "We are delighted the hard work of all our many partners and the local determination to make things happen from both the local council and regional economic development agencies has been recognised in this way."

"We are proud to be working collaboratively with Harlow College to make a university education available locally in this way."

Sir Alan Langlands, chief executive of HEFCE, added: "Developing existing higher education centres has enabled us to raise the relatively low levels of participation in many parts of the country."

"These centres have the capacity to transform people's lives and broaden their horizons."

Law firm trio mark 90 years of service

THREE employees of Harlow law firm Attwaters Solicitors have clocked up 90 years of service between them.

Geoff Tovey started on October 1, 1969 and was made a partner in 1976. He worked in the practice's Brentwood and Loughton offices before moving to West Gate in Harlow three years ago.

Brenda Webb, who recently celebrated 30 years' service, works in the company's medical negligence department, while paralegal Sharon Devine, who specialises in personal injury law, has been with the firm for 20 years.

Mr Tovey said: "The development of technology is undoubtedly the biggest change."

"However, my attitude to the job remains the same; I am committed to providing the extra value and assurance that a personal approach brings."

Down's test experts to offer new scan at PAH

A TEAM of experts in early pregnancy will soon be offering a new test for Down's Syndrome at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The nuchal translucency scan enables doctors to estimate the collection of fluid under the skin at the back of the foetus's neck at 11-14 weeks, a key factor in determining whether or not the child has Down's Syndrome.

Expectant mothers can then decide whether or not to have an amniocentesis test.

Wendy Matthews, associate director of women's and children's services at PAH, said: "The NT scan is rarely provided in a general hospital setting so to have this team working with us at PAH is a tremendous boost to the overall service we offer women and their partners."

Feckless spending on flats refurb

SIR, Further to your recent report 'Homeowners' anger over cost of revamp' (Star, September 10), I believe Harlow Council has lost touch with any sense of economic reality, financial prudence or an appreciation of the financial difficulties being experienced by a great many people at the present time.

How else can one explain their decision to go ahead with the refurbishment of the Ladyshot flats, carrying out work that is in the main cosmetic and non-essential but which will unfortunately result in each of the leaseholders being presented with a final bill of close to £9,000 each?

The most glaring example of this

feckless spending is the replacement of the existing balcony railings which, despite being perfectly sound and functional, are to be replaced at a cost of nearly £3,000 per flat. As a leaseholder myself, I have been in communication with the council ever since receiving the Notice of Estimates dated March 25, 2009 but thus far the only concession they have made is to re-paint the entrance doors and frames rather than unnecessarily replacing them with hardwood units, as was their original intention. The saving here amounts to a total of £4,781, (or just under £300 per flat), which represents only 3.7 per cent of the total cost of £130,233 for the block refurbishment.

Rather than significantly reducing the volume of work and thus the financial burden on the long suffering leaseholders, the council's response is to suggest different methods of how the leaseholders can borrow the money to pay for this unnecessary work. They seem oblivious to the fact that borrowing money without sufficient regard to its repayment is a recipe for financial disaster and is probably the central reason for the council's (and the country's) current economic difficulties.

As the majority of the flats in the block are now privately owned by way of being leased from the council, the council's position appears to be as follows: We, the council, decide on the improvements and upgrades we would like to make to our buildings; you, the leaseholders, will pick up the bill even if your preference is not to have the work done.

Ladyshot, Harlow

Council must accept cash to ease rent rises

SIR, Councillor Lee Dangerfield appeared mystified by criticisms of the Tory administration for refusing to help council tenants. (Letters, August 17). He seems to claim the Government is offering a poisoned chalice: to halve the rent increase while causing a £420,000 shortfall.

But why is there a shortfall? The reason is essentially that the Government assumes councils will follow guidelines on appropriate rent levels. These guidelines, however, were overtaken with gusto by the Tory administration in February, regardless of the impact on tenants already hard-pressed in the recession.

Labour councillors pointed out as much in our criticisms of their draconian budget. Indeed, no other council (Labour or Liberal-Democrat/Labour) has set rents above national guidelines.

Tenants received a double whammy this year. Firstly their average weekly rent increased from £67.90 to £72.93 and, secondly, the council is still refusing to implement the subsidy to halve their rent increase. It's also important as it will be used as a baseline for next year's rent levels.

They did not even use increased rents to improve housing services. On the contrary, further cuts followed. Residents in sheltered housing particularly received a knock. Some schemes were threatened by proposals for redesignation to ordinary housing stock, common rooms and laundry facilities were adversely affected and warden support services, much valued by residents, were reduced. Services dealing with homeless families were cut, yet garage rents, heating and service charges were all considerably increased.

Other councils were in a similar position but grasped the opportunity to take the extra subsidy. Only three councils refused, including Harlow to our shame. The money is there, an unexpected windfall of £900,000 from the Government.

Ultimately, the Tory administration must accept the offer. It's a pity they have to be dragged, kicking and screaming, to help Harlow's tenants who are only asking for equal treatment to tenants elsewhere.

Councillor Jean Clark, Deputy Leader Labour Group
Civic Centre, Harlow

Any cut in income will force a cut in services

SIR, I am slightly troubled by the ongoing debate regarding rent reductions. The proposed reduction will, as stated by councillor Lee Dangerfield, cost the local council £420,000 – a very large sum of money indeed. Yet the Labour Party, and in particular Bill Rammell, demand that this is an acceptable cost.

It is no wonder that under a Labour leadership this town accumulated such a vast debt. In a time of recession it is vital to be fiscal. For every cut in council earnings we must cut a council service, so which housing service would Bill and his party recommend to be cut?

In this situation I feel it is important to remember that Tory councillors were elected by the people of this town to be their representatives. The people chose not to elect a Labour council and they chose to do so convincingly.

In light of this, we should trust the Conservative administration to do the job we elected it to do by maintaining the quality of the town in a fiscal and sustainable way.

We do not need to change our MP

SIR, It's become a depressingly familiar sight. Whenever I read the letters pages in my local newspaper about something awful happening in our town, up pops Conservative Parliamentary hopeful Robert Halfon to proclaim he is the man to be in government on our behalf.

I understand that, like the rest of the country, Harlow people are finding it tough whilst we claw our way out of a global recession. But the idea that Harlow needs to replace its current MP is absurd, as was Mr Halfon's shocking claim that his party has "led the way on policies to respond to the unemployment crisis".

Can readers remember how bad it was under the last Tory governments? Privatisation, slashing of affordable housing, cuts in services and, like today, unemployment. But the difference is unemployment under the Conservative Party is an ideology it nurtures; it is designed to support bosses, drive down wages and break union organisation.

Can the good people of Harlow remember how the whole of our mining industry was slung on the scrapheap simply to break one union?

Until the recent global meltdown, unemployment has been reduced year on year under Labour and a minimum wage introduced. We have enjoyed the longest period of sustained growth and record low inflation since records began. It's going to be the likes of Harlow's working families who will suffer the consequences of a change of government – victims of cuts in services, unemployment, attacks on wages and the introduction of policies that only serve the rich.

Future spending rounds are going to be tough, but Labour is on the side of hard-working families and those who most need government to be on their side – the young, elderly, disabled and vulnerable.

Our MP was recently on my doorstep acknowledging my concerns and willing to offer support and advice, but more importantly demonstrating clear leadership in dealing with the tough local and national challenges Harlow people face.

Give a thought to visually impaired

SIR, I would like to express how disappointed I am at the treatment of Harlow's blind and partially sighted residents by both Harlow Council and Essex County Council. Little or no effort is made to ensure these vulnerable people can help themselves to be safe in our community.

Harlow Talking Newspaper tries very hard to ensure that changes to the layout of our town are brought to the listeners' attention. However, Harlow Council blocked off part of the bus terminus, removed seats and has failed to inform anyone that this has happened or when it may be returned to normal.

I spoke to the council and was promised I would be kept informed on this work, but so far there have been no calls, letters or emails. Work began in The Stow which involved blocking walkways. Was this fact imparted to the talking newspaper by the council? No. Once again it was only because I became aware of this that the editor could put the information in.

Do councils make any effort to ensure these people know when pavements are being dug up?

Litter turned out to be stickers for bins

SIR, Today I took possession of the new recycling bins. I wasn't a fan of this idea but feel we all have a communal responsibility to look after the place for future generations.

Some hours later, just as I was putting the kids to bed, I looked out and saw that someone had dropped a massive piece of multi sheet paper in the middle of the road. I hate litter so went to pick it up.

It was sheets of pre-printed numbers for the side of the recycling bins.

Amazing, isn't it, that those who furnish us with the tools of communal responsibility can't spot or be bothered to pick up five huge sheets of stickers from the road. I, of course, put the plastic sheets into the wheellie bin. I hope I got the right one. You can get fined for that sort of thing you know.

Paws in the pews

A FEW of God's creatures of the four-legged and feathered variety were welcomed into Harlow's oldest church when their owners flocked to a special Vicar of Dibley-style pet service on Sunday.

A congregation of 70 people turned up at St Mary-at-Latton, in The Gowers, with their animals to receive a blessing in the service of praise led by self-confessed animal-mad cleric Lynn Hurry. Pets ranged from mice, hamsters and rats to dogs and cats, while one youngster took along his favourite stuffed Tyrannosaurus Rex. Before long the church was filled with creatures great and small.

"It was a truly wonderful service and the only time there was a sound from any animals was when they heartily joined in with the singing," said the vicar. "There were more animals than I originally thought would turn up; it was really great. We had some excellent feedback on it." She first came up with the idea while vicar at another church and is so pleased with the response that she is planning to make it an annual event taking place over Animal Welfare weekend.

Ancient wood is a haven of tranquility on the edge town

SET on the southern outskirts of Harlow, Parndon Wood has been recorded as a woodland for at least 900 years.

This ancient woodland site was bought by Harlow Council in 1968 to be turned into a local nature reserve and, in 1974, the reserve was also designated a Special Site for Scientific Interest (SSSI) due to its flora and value as an educational resource.

The wood is composed of a canopy of oak tree standards with hornbeam trees growing beneath. Traditionally, these have been coppiced every 10-15 years to make use of the timber. This practice is still carried out, although nowadays it is more to maintain a diversity of habitats within the woodland and increase the number of species to be found.

The reserve is also a haven for flora, fungi, birds, mini-beasts, small mammals and deer and is a beautiful and peaceful place to wander, whether on your own, with family or with friends. Visitors are more than welcome!

You can follow the guided trail with points of interest and things to look out for or just enjoy the surroundings. There are observation hides to sit quietly and watch for deer or birds setting down by the ponds.

Forest Funtasia is a new and exciting project to encourage children and young adults to connect with the natural world through informal play and activities in a safe and positive environment, thus giving them the incentive to be part of their natural heritage's long-term protection.

Lottery funding has provided the opportunity to bring nature into the lives of local children and young adults from all different communities within Harlow.

Forest Funtasia links with other projects around the town such as the Harlow Youth Café and The Rainbow Young Bus, as well as with local schools, libraries and community groups. Children and youths can drop in on a casual basis and take part in activities including

- themed nature packs
- self guided trails
- bug hunting
- mammal tracking
- fact-finding
- orienteering
- nature-themed arts and crafts
- games to play in the woods
- woodcrafts and much more

The emphasis is on inspiring and learning through our senses and observation skills, but more importantly, having fun!

Parndon Wood is always looking for volunteers to help the warden and assist with the Forest Funtasia project, as well as practical conservation volunteers to help with the wider work on nature reserves and wildlife sites.

Government adviser visits PAH on fact-finding mission

A GOVERNMENT-appointed doctor who has been given responsibility for modernising pathology services across the National Health Service was in Harlow for a fact-finding visit to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Dr Ian Barnes, the national adviser on pathology services, wanted to see how the introduction of innovative new diagnostic tools has helped speed up test results and improve treatment times for patients.

Dr Jolanta McKenzie, director for cancer services at PAH, said the hospital's pathology department prided itself on being one of the top-performers in the country.

She said: "We have made such advances in recent years in the way we provide our wide range of pathology services in a 21st-century setting that Dr Barnes wanted to come and see for himself."

"He took the opportunity to observe where innovative diagnostic technologies have been introduced into the service to speed up test results to improve patient care."

Police arrest suspect in car thefts inquiry

POLICE investigating the thefts of luxury cars have arrested a 20 year-old man from Harlow on suspicion of possessing criminal property.

Officers swooped on a property in Kingsland, Harlow, on Thursday and seized ammunition.

The raid was part of a joint operation between officers of the Essex, Hertfordshire and Metropolitan forces investigating the theft of luxury cars from outside their owners' homes.

In most cases the high-powered vehicles are taken using keys stolen from inside the owners' property.

Detective Inspector Gerry McDonald, of Herts police, said: "This is a proactive inquiry and we will continue to follow every strand of evidence to trace suspects involved in burglary."

The man arrested in Harlow was released on police bail.

Judge agrees to delay start of Sainsbury's robbery trial

THE trial of two men accused of robbing a security guard at the Sainsbury's store in Fifth Avenue, Harlow, back in February, has been adjourned.

Unemployed Barry Askew (51), of Mallows Green, Harlow, and Colin Garrod (41), a demolition worker from Basildon, deny charges of robbery and possessing a sawn-off shotgun with intent to commit robbery.

They also deny three offences of money laundering and the illegal transferral of criminal property contrary to the Proceeds of Crime Act 2007 at betting shops in the Southend area.

Their trial, which was expected to last a week, was scheduled to begin at Basildon Crown Court on Monday but was delayed after the judge was told more time was needed to prepare the case.

Both men have been remanded in custody pending a new trial date which will be fixed at a hearing tomorrow.

Handyman steps in to repair 'shoddy' work

GRATEFUL: Joy Bedu and Richard Holloway

(photo: HAR0600519)

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A KIND-hearted handyman has volunteered his services to help a disabled woman who splashed out more than £1,000 on botched work at her council home.

Self-employed plumber Richard Holloway was so disgusted when he read about the plight of Northbrooks resident Joy Bedu in the Star he decided to put the work right free of charge.

Ms Bedu (57), who suffers from arthritis and is awaiting an operation on a damaged knee, paid in advance for the work on her bathroom and garden. But she was left with a broken shower, uneven tiling, cracked grouting and screws protruding dangerously from the garden decking which cut her pet dog's paws.

After visiting her home to check the work over, Mr Holloway, who lives in Harlow, has now issued an appeal to local building firms to supply the necessary materials to make good the work to a professional standard.

"I was completely shocked at the shoddy workmanship I saw," he told the Star. "The bathroom had been left in a right state while the decking was like a springboard because they hadn't used the right number of joists."

"I'm willing to give up my time for nothing

Disabled woman's nightmare over 'botched' building work

FLASHBACK: Star, September 24

but I'm asking local firms to muck in and help supply new tiles and a shower unit for the bathroom and some pressure-treated timber for the decking.

"It's really not fair what's happened to this lady and it makes me sick to see how these cowboy firms prey on vulnerable people."

Ms Bedu said: "I was absolutely thrilled when Richard contacted me to say he was willing to give up his time for nothing to help me out."

"This has been an absolute nightmare and I just hope I can put it all behind me soon."

Any firm willing to help Mr Holloway by supplying materials should contact the Star on (01279) 451545.

Estate agent warned over advert claim

ONE of Harlow's leading estate agents has been wrapped over the knuckles by advertising watchdogs over a claim it had sold more properties in the town than anyone else.

Haart, which has offices in West Gate, was reported to the Advertising Standards Agency for the advert which claimed it was "proud to be the number one estate agent in Harlow" and had "more sold boards than any other agent".

The advert showed a pie chart breaking down the market by business, with small print stating the information had been gathered from an internet property portal and not all agents were represented.

But rival firm Kings Group objected, claiming the data was not reliable because it was based on self-reporting by employed agents.

A Kings Group spokesman told the Star: "The ASA said the claim was likely to be interpreted by residents in Harlow that Haart had sold more homes than other rival estate agents in the town and because the company did not have sufficient evidence the advert was branded misleading."

Haart chief executive Paul Smith said: "We have amended our advert as requested by the ASA and have commissioned further independent research to verify our claim that Haart sells the most homes in Harlow."

"We did attribute the research in our advert to vizzihome.com which is a well respected internet source of information. It is important to consumers to know who sells the most property so that they can make the most informed choice when they put their home on the market."

It's been 2 years since we've seen your grin, your laughter.

With your silly jokes, in stitches we've been. The pain we still feel, does not fade away.

But we'll love you forever till we meet again.

From your loving family, Barbara, Lisa, Nicola, Scott, 2 Paul's & Grand Kids.

Music school photo starts bells ringing

By LOUISE SASSOON
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WE can always rely on our readers to come up with the answers when we ask for information about old photos.

So there was no real surprise when this picture which was featured in Nostalgia two weeks ago attracted a flurry of responses.

We wanted to know if anyone could tell us where and when the photograph was taken and we are now able to report that it was snapped during the mid-1980s and shows children playing instruments at what was then the Mark Hall Music School.

It is thought the picture is of the school's wind band.

One of those who got in touch was Dawn Helder, who recognised a familiar face in the photograph.

"The little girl in the front centre (third from the left) is my daughter Anne-Marie Helder, who was a student at Mark Hall Music School for many years," she writes.

"I think she'd be about nine or 10 years old in the photo, which makes it 1985/6. I don't know any of the other students, though."

Sally Bucknell also had a few memories stirred by the picture. "Flicking through the Harlow Star this morning, imagine my surprise to see a photo of the Mark Hall School wind band in your Nostalgia column," she writes.

"Pictured are (among others), Laurence Salisbury on drums, Roger Williams on bass, Andrew Smith on 1st clarinet and William White on 2nd clarinet.

"This would have been taken in the music block at Mark Hall School one lunchtime circa 1984/5. We cannot work out who's on flute!

"I cannot believe we're old enough to be in the Nostalgia column."

And David Devine, of The Museum of Harlow, said: "I have read the page today and recognised the music school picture as one in our collection. It was taken by F. Scatley in June 1985 and is in a series taken at that time."

Incidentally, Mrs Helder said her daughter has since gone on to build a successful career in music, helped, no doubt, by her time at the Mark Hall Music School.

She is now a singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist who is a member of two successful rock bands and has also done solo support for artists including Midge Ure and Ultravox.

Thanks to everyone who responded to our request for information.

● If you have any memories of Harlow you would like to share with Nostalgia, either on an item or photograph featured or a subject we have yet to cover, email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk or call (01279) 400577.

More musical memories

ANOTHER musical-themed item has dropped on to the Nostalgia desk courtesy of The Museum of Harlow.

The photograph was taken in 1985 during a music concert at St

Mark's School. But can anyone tell us who is in the picture or supply any information about the performance?

If you can, contact Nostalgia in the usual fashion.

BLAZE HEROINE PRAISED
A witness who risked her life to save a 78-year-old widow from a blazing flat has been hailed as a heroine. Heather Clibben, who runs Katherines House flats for the elderly in Brookside, was alerted by her daughter Lucy (9) who spotted smoke pouring from the first floor flat.

FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE
A special pair of ballet shoes have pride of place at Harlow Ballet School, thanks to a kind gesture from one of Russia's prima ballerinas Mikhail Lavrovsky. The shoes were presented to HBS's Leo Kersley at Harlow Playhouse.

DOG RACETRACK PLAN
An ambitious plan to create a greyhound racing complex in Harlow has been drawn up by three local businessmen. But the idea has been thrown out by Harlow Sports Trust which feels it would be "incompatible" with other sports in the town.

UNION OVERTIME BAN
Members of the Post Office Engineering Union in Harlow, Epping and the surrounding area are banning all overtime because of an "escalating" dispute with their management. The problem started off, say the union, by a decision to move an employee from his job and replace him with another without consulting them.

Charity's cash crusade to beat breast cancer

The women joined local fundraisers in Broad Walk for the launch of Cancer Research UK's new breast cancer awareness and fundraising appeal called 'Join the fight for women's survival'.

Dressed in pink and wearing the charity's pink and blue camouflage ribbons, they were out and about persuading shoppers to support the cause.

Peter Hall, local volunteer manager for Cancer Research UK, said: "We are shaping up to recruit mums, dads, families, friends and work colleagues throughout the Harlow area and beyond to help raise money.

"We want them to step forward and be counted as they join the fight for women's survival.

"The message to everyone is clear: Cancer Research UK needs you! Supporters can take part in this year's campaign by requesting a fundraising pack which is crammed full of tips for organising an event to raise money for life-saving research."

During the past few years more women have been diagnosed with breast cancer than ever before, but thanks to research into earlier diagnosis and better treatment, more are living to tell the tale. Mr Hall added: "We need everyone in the Harlow area to get involved. Our research is beating breast cancer but we still need people to help us fight harder. Every penny raised will help save more lives in the future."

An army of celebrities has already pledged support for the national campaign, including Hollywood actress Nicole Kidman, 1960s fashion icon Twiggy and broadcaster Gloria Hunniford, whose daughter – former Blue Peter presenter Caron Keating – died from the disease.

Former ring king John is guest at firm's golf day anniversary celebration

FORMER world light-heavyweight boxing champion John Conteh made sure a fundraising golf day and charity auction packed a punch.

The event was organised by Graham Ellis Associates, a Harlow-based firm of chartered quantity surveyors, to celebrate its 30th anniversary.

The day's activities took place at Canons Brook Golf Club in support of the President's Sporting Club of Harlow which provides sporting opportunities for disabled youngsters.

Senior partner Graham Ellis said: "It all went absolutely fantastically. We raised between £3,000 and £4,000 for the President's Sporting Club which is a great achievement.

"I would like to thank everybody who came along and made the day so successful."

Over the past few years Mr Ellis, who has a passion for extreme challenges, has raised thousands of pounds for charity by completing bike rides in various parts of the world.

Asda customers are Tickled Pink

SUPERMARKET staff at Asda turned pink for the day when they took part in a charity fundraiser. Staff at the Water Gardens branch helped to do their bit for Breast Cancer Care by offering face painting, lucky dips, candy floss and a raffle to customers as part of a Tickled Pink event.

Shoppers at Asda can continue to show their support by buying from the specially designed Ticked Pink range.

Make the most of food 'waste'

CO-OP members are being encouraged to curb their food waste at a special event in Harlow on Saturday.

Community chef Jill Weatherburn will be at the Latton Bush Centre to demonstrate recipes made from items commonly thrown away.

A WRAP (Waste and Resources Action Programme) representative will also offer advice and tips about how to manage household food waste.

To book a place, call (01908) 361500. A shuttle bus will run from Harlow Town station to the Latton Bush Centre.

Recycling effort is bearing fruit

EPPING residents have helped recycle an incredible 102 tonnes of aluminium for charity which in turn will provide 102 fruit trees for villagers in Malawi.

The scheme was set up by charity Alupro which helps developing countries through green schemes.

Don't be bugged by the friendly spider

HERE'S some bad news if you're not a fan of creepy crawlies. Wildlife experts think we'll be seeing a lot more spiders scuttling about this autumn!

Researchers at insect charity Buglife said weather conditions over the past year had provided ideal breeding conditions for the eight-legged critters, meaning there will be many more seeking refuge in the warmth of our homes as the winter draws in.

The charity said the favourable climate will be a huge boost to lots of bugs and insects whose numbers have dramatically fallen in recent years.

Birds that feed on spiders and insects should also benefit from the population boom this winter.

There are around 600 species of spider in Britain and, although many people do not like them, they do an important job in keeping the numbers of other creepy crawlies under control.

"Spiders are predators and if it weren't for them we would be overrun with flies and other pests which make life unbearable," said Matt Shardlow, of Buglife.

But if you're one of the millions of people who don't like these harmless arachnids, John Partridge from the British Arachnological Society has some good advice.

"Those who don't like them should just leave them alone and they will leave you alone," he said.

English village setting for a classic whodunit

A DEVILISH tale of murder and intrigue set against the picture-postcard background of a thoroughly middle-class English village is set to mystify the Playhouse Studio tonight (Thursday).

Global Theatre Company's adaptation of Norman Robbins's Prescription For Murder will doubtless hold great appeal for fans of the ludicrously entertaining TV series Midsomer Murders while those who like nothing more than to engross themselves in the thrilling twists and turns of a classic whodunit will not be disappointed.

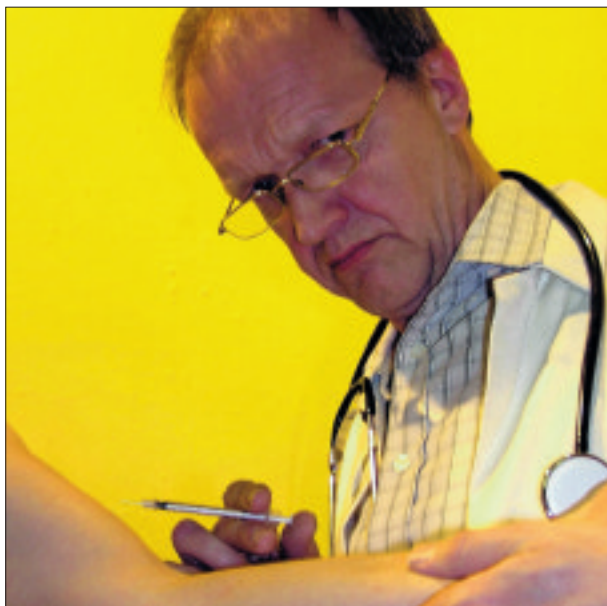

When local GP Richard Forth's (played by Richard Holliss, pictured right) third wife falls prey to a mysterious illness, the net curtains of the rural idyll of Bere Knighton begin twitching and it's not long before the local gossips begin to suspect something is amiss with the good doctor.

As rumours about the strange deaths of his previous wives circulate and the arrival of a mysterious stranger who knows too much spooks the nosy neighbours, the villagers begin to question their faith in the respected GP who has served them for so many years.

A thrilling journey into the macabre with a sting in its tail that's guaranteed to shock, Prescription For Murder promises to be yet another deserved triumph for Global.

The show opens tonight (Thursday) and runs until Saturday evening, with performances beginning at 7.45pm. Tickets priced at £10 (£8 concessions) are available from (01279) 431945.

Theatre celebrating Black History Month

By CHRIS MOSS

A DAZZLING programme of live music, dance, film and drama awaits Playhouse audiences this month as the theatre celebrates Black History Month with a series of spectacular shows.

The season kicks off on Sunday evening with Ella, a multi-media musical tribute charting the life and works of the first lady of jazz, Ella Fitzgerald.

Starring Harlem-born singer Sandi Russell in the title role, the show features a full session band and archival images to give the audience a new depth to their understanding and appreciation of one of America's greatest singers.

On Tuesday, local production company Efua Sey Cultural Academy presents the powerful new dance drama Birth Of A New Day.

A dazzling combination of traditional dance, drumming and dialogue charting a 200-year journey from the African slave trade through to post-colonial Britain, the show begins at 7.30pm in the Playhouse Studio.

The following evening (Wednesday) the theatre hosts a special screening of Abderrahmane Sissako's breakthrough 2006 film Bamako, a passionate, two-stranded study of Malian life and the perilous financial state of the poverty-stricken African continent as a whole.

Next Friday sultry UK soul sensation Mica Paris performs in the main auditorium, showcasing the silky smooth vocals that made her a household name in the 1990s.

With a set packed full of classic hits including You Are My One Temptation and If I Love U 2 Nite, Mica will also perform tracks from her brand new album Born Again.

Rounding off the theatre's celebrations on Saturday, October 17, is the true and compelling story of the celebrated Paul Robeson, a world-famous black actor and musician who was branded a traitor to his country when he dared challenge institutionalised racial prejudice rife in early 20th century America.

Starring Tayo Aluko as the great man, Call Me Mr Robeson features a choice selection of the great man's most affecting songs – including a dramatic rendition of Ol' Man River – and will take the audience on a roller-coaster ride through Robeson's remarkable and eventful life.

CHILDREN: A big, scary monster of a show lumbers into The Playhouse tonight (Thursday) when Tall Stories presents its smash-hit production of The Gruffalo, based on the award-winning book by Julia Donaldson and Alex Scheffler. Join Mouse as she sets off into the woods in search of hazelnuts, meeting along the way a wheeler-dealer fox, a maraca-shaking snake and, of course, the mighty Gruffalo himself. The fun-packed show runs until Saturday, with morning performances starting at 10.30am and afternoon shows at 1.30pm. Tickets are available from (01279) 431945, priced at £9.50 (£8 concessions).

MUSICAL: Acclaimed production company Shakespeare 4 Kidz returns to The Playhouse on Tuesday with a thrilling musical version of the Bard's Macbeth. The deliciously dark tale of a warrior who learns of his destiny to become King of Scotland from three sinister witches, the show includes song-and-dance routines and tells the story with much of Shakespeare's original text woven into contemporary language. The morning show begins at 10.30am, with an afternoon performance starting at 1.30pm. Tickets cost £16 (£9.50 children) from (01279) 431945.

COMEDY: Folically-challenged comedian Andy Parsons – of BBC's Mock The Week fame – brings his brand new stand-up show to The Playhouse next Thursday (October 15). Expect an evening of satire without the lecture and ridicule, all sprinkled with a bit of showbiz glitter. The show begins at 8pm and tickets cost £15 from (01279) 431945.

LOVE HAPPENS certificate 12A 1h49m

LOVE comes knocking when a widower least expects it in Brandon Camp's poignant romantic drama. Thematically muddled but with its heart in the right place, Love Happens struggles to gel the central character's inner conflict with the romantic comedy conventions that dictate his new relationship.

It's a peculiar confection glazed with schmaltz and clichés and structured as chapters from the self-help book that propels the characters on their journeys of self-discovery.

No-one is more painfully earnest than Aaron Eckhart as the film's grief-stricken protagonist, who delivers a moving performance as a man ripped apart by guilt.

Opposite him, Jennifer Aniston is pure decoration. Her poorly-written role is a dramatic contrivance to coax the widower out of his shell and remind him that, in a world of darkness and misery, everyone deserves a second chance at happiness.

Burke Ryan (Eckhart) is still haunted by memories of the day his wife died in a car accident with him in the passenger seat. Consumed by grief, he channels all that anguish into penning a self-help book with no thought that it might one day be published.

When the manuscript becomes a nationwide best-seller, Burke is transformed into a poster boy for anyone who has ever loved and lost, and he embarks on a book tour with ambitious agent Lane (Dan Fogler) at his side.

During a seminar in Seattle, Burke meets pretty florist Eloise (Aniston), whose latest boyfriend has just been caught cheating behind her back. She has a passion for interesting words and an assistant who despairs at her poor taste in men.

Sparks of attraction fly but Burke's old wounds have yet to heal and he is scared of being hurt again.

Love Happens sets up an obvious twist which the screenplay clearly telegraphs, but the resolution only kicks into gear with intervention from Burke's father-in-law (Martin Sheen).

Amid all the soul-searching there are a couple of laughs. However, for the most part, Camp's film meditates on coming to terms with grief and plies its philosophy through the words of Fogler's agent.

Moving tale is up there with the best

UP (3D & 2D) certificate U 1h42m

THE latest computer-animated masterpiece from the wizards at Pixar is an airborne adventure in the company of a cranky 78-year-old man and an excitable eight-year-old boy.

By turns hysterical and heartbreaking, this rumbustious romp is guaranteed to have even the hardest and most cynical soul choking back tears long after the lights go up.

The opening 10 minutes of Up are among the finest Pixar has ever crafted, introducing widower Carl Fredricksen (voiced by Ed Asner) via a montage of his childhood years and his subsequent marriage to soulmate Ellie (Elie Docter).

Alone in the world following Ellie's death, retired balloon salesman Carl refuses to be parted from the ramshackle house he built and shared with his late wife. So he ties thousands of brightly-coloured helium balloons to the roof, causing the property to break free of terra firma and take flight, to Paradise Falls in South America, where he and Ellie had always planned to visit.

Unexpectedly, a Junior Wilderness Explorer called Russell (Jordan Nagai) is stranded on the porch as the house gains altitude and the plucky tyke nervously joins Carl on his big adventure.

The mismatched pair crash-land close to the Falls and encounter a talking dog called Dug (Bob Peterson), a 13ft tall flightless bird called Kevin and long-lost explorer Charles Muntz (Christopher Plummer), who was once Carl's childhood hero.

Up is another modern classic from Pixar and arguably their most sophisticated and adult film to date, although there is plenty to engage children.

THE INVENTION OF LYING The truth about Ricky Gervais' new comedy, co-written and co-directed by Matthew Robinson, is that it is mean-spirited, misconceived and starved of big laughs. Gervais casts himself in the lead role as an unsympathetic and unconvincing romantic but the notion that Jennifer Garner's acid-tongued beauty might succumb to his so-called charms is more laughable than anything in the script.

ZOMBIELAND Horror comedy set in a post-apocalyptic America, which has been ravaged by a zombie plague. Most of the population has been transformed into the marauding undead and the few survivors band together to fend off the slaving, flesh-eating hordes. Four of them head for the sanctuary of an amusement park, but quickly discover the site is overrun by carnivorous predators hungry for human blood.

FAME The update of the 1980 smash hit sees 10 young students seeking to fulfil their dream at the NYC High School of Performing Arts. It's like a gritty version of High School Musical, without the basketball.

CLOUDY WITH A CHANCE OF MEATBALLS (2D) Computer-generated animation about an inventor whose contraption causes food to rain from the sky and an inexperienced weathergirl who is asked to cover this meteorological phenomenon.

kids club

NIGHT AT THE MUSEUM 2 The story switches to the largest museum complex in the world, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington DC, where revived pharaoh Kahmunrah aims to take over the world.

IGOR Animated fable about a clichéd hunchbacked evil scientist's assistant who aspires to become a scientist himself, much to the displeasure of the rest of the evil science community.

INKHEART Based on the best-selling novel by Cornelia Funke, Inkheart is a fantastical family adventure about a secret class – the Silvertongues – who possess the power to literally bring books to life. But for every fictional character allowed to leap across the divide, a real person must take their place.

Country house rises from the ashes

FOLLOWING the formal re-opening of the Grade II* listed country house at Mulberry Green, Old Harlow, earlier this year, Bermac Properties reports that only a handful of properties are still available.

The property, which dates back to 1790, and grounds have been sympathetically redeveloped following bad fire damage in 2000.

Planning consent was received in 2006 for the restoration and creative conversion of the original country house and gardens. As many of the original features have been retained as possible, transforming the space into seven apartments and 10 four, five and six bedroom houses to the rear of the property.

In addition, two further detached properties are being built opposite Mulberry Green, called '33' Mulberry Green.

This striking development in a stunning village location is steeped in history and stands proud in its beautiful surroundings. There is currently one apartment available in Mulberry Green House, located on the first floor and priced at £354,995.

For purchasers wanting a larger property, there are now five luxury, high-specification houses available at the rear of the country house, all with five bedrooms and with prices starting from £584,950 up to £799,950.

Various incentives are available on these new homes, including part exchange for your existing home.

Bermac Properties will soon be launching '33', the next phase of The Mulberry Green Collection, which comprises two detached properties offering a similar specification to the houses at Mulberry Gardens which are set over three floors.

Currently under construction, the properties are expected to be available for occupation in the autumn with off-plan enquiries currently being taken. Prices are expected to be in the region of £750,000 when they are completed. Deals are available for off-plan reservations.

The limited opportunity to buy into a piece of history, combined with the highly sought-after location, and good commuter links nearby creates a one-off chance to invest in this superb development.

Andrew Temperton, managing director of Bermac Properties, said: "We are delighted at the success to date at Mulberry Green house, which has been an interesting and challenging yet highly enjoyable restoration and re-development project.

"Using traditional materials in keeping with the local conservation area, Mulberry Green is the perfect location to invest in a new home and a landmark project for us, thereby expanding our portfolio of residential property across Essex."

For further details, current availability and off plan enquiries for '33' Mulberry Green, contact Bermac Properties on (01245) 344444 or e-mail suzanneh@bermacproperties.co.uk.

Seventh heaven for Ladies

IT was seventh heaven for Harlow Ladies as they produced an emphatic display to beat hosts Basildon II 7-1 in the premier division of the Essex Women's Hockey League.

The visitors put the game to bed in the opening 35 minutes.

Playing with the strong wind in their favour, Harlow took advantage of slack defending with just seven minutes gone on the clock as Holly Reilly bundled the ball over from close range.

Carolyn Rushton was on hand to slot home a pass from Emma Tweddle to double the lead.

At the back, fine defensive displays from Petra Trimble and Anita Shearman-Slack kept Basildon at bay.

Harlow grabbed a third on 17 minutes as skipper Tweddle gave her team breathing space with an emphatic shot from the top of the circle.

Rushton doubled her tally with a trademark reverse stick shot and Tweddle added another with five minutes to go in the first period.

Basildon admirably pushed on and got their just rewards two minutes later when Harlow keeper Nicky Newall could not stop a fine shot from creeping inside the near post.

Rushton completed her hat-trick when she put away a cross from Anna Ferdinando, to give Harlow a 6-1 half-time lead.

The visitors eased up in the second period and the only scoring saw Tweddle complete her hat-trick when the Basildon keeper was unable to stop her fierce strike with 15 minutes left.

HARLOW (squad): Newall, Shearman-Slack, Trimble, Jo Green, Ferdinando, Tweddle, Rushton, Douglas, Stanesby, Amos, Reilly, Figg.

● HARLOW Ladies II lost 2-0 at Old Southendians III in division three of the Essex Women's League.

The visitors kept the scoreline to one at the break after good defending.

The seashores added a second on 50 minutes after out-pacing the Harlow defence.

A great save from Jess Ashford denied the hosts a third.

Player breaks leg as 9 men hold Robins

ROBINS captain Dan Hudson suffered a broken leg, while ex-Sawbo skipper Mark Watters and defender Charlie Pollard were both sent off as a red mist descended around Crofter's End during Saturday's 2-2 draw between Sawbridgeworth Town and nine-man Takeley.

In a crazy five-minute spell Takeley had the two defenders sent off, but still somehow rescued a point.

The score was poised at 1-1 when defender Watters - the son of Takeley's former Sawbridgeworth boss Don Watters - was dismissed for a challenge on Hudson which left the player screaming in agony.

Play was held up for several minutes while he received treatment.

Then in a separate incident, defender Pollard was the last man as he conceded a penalty.

three following Saturday's stalemate.

Striker Harold Craston made his debut after joining on a dual registration from Blue Square South neighbours Bishop's Stortford.

The Robins took the lead on three minutes. Craston's powerful 25-yard strike crashed against the Takeley bar and James Whitbread was on hand to stab in the rebound.

Lewis Bristow and Joe Galsworthy both went close for Takeley.

Don Watters, returning to the club he managed for several years earlier this decade, watched his new side level on 17 minutes.

Bristow's cross was poked home at the far post by Chris Grove.

Whitbread's header from Ted Llewellyn's cross hit the bar and the same player had an angled shot well saved Takeley keeper Jason Hardy.

Just before the break, Hardy pulled off a great save from a blistering shot from Lee Flavin.

The game burst into life 10 minutes after the re-start when Watters brought down Hudson.

After consulting with an assistant, referee Nick Pavitt showed Watters a red card while Hudson was taken to hospital by ambulance with a broken leg.

Paul Baker came on as a replacement and Tom Day donned the skipper's armband.

Just on the hour Ashley Conlan's pass sent Whitbread clear but he was upended by Pollard, who was dismissed.

Whitbread converted from the spot, but Sawbridgeworth were stunned when the nine men equalised within five minutes. Bristow's shot was spilled by keeper Jamie Ring at the feet of substitute James Amott who stabbed in the equaliser.

The Takeley defence was put under severe pressure but the nine men held out to the end.

SAWBRIDGEWORTH TN: Ring, Flavin, Llewellyn, Day, Fraser, Hudson (Baker 55), Hayter, Craston, Whitbread, Conlan, Ojebango.

Young Rams win by single point to notch up first victory

Youth rugby

A THRILLING match saw Harlow U-17s win by a single point at Datchworth.

The 18-17 victory was the Young Rams' first success of the new season.

Harlow dominated territory and possession for the first 15 minutes.

A slick backs move released Dave Brigenshaw, who put Ryan Blackman over for an unconverted try in the corner.

Brigenshaw out-paced four Datchworth defenders to score a converted try under the posts.

Datchworth pulled back a converted try as the visitors led 7-12 at the break.

In the second half Datchworth started much the stronger, and almost immediately took the lead when their burly centre barged through under the posts for a converted try.

Datchworth were penalised and Denzel Crafton successfully landed a 35-metre penalty to regain the lead.

But the hosts hit back by kicking a penalty.

Scrum-half Ryan McGlone then picked the ball up from the back of a ruck and coolly slotted over a decisive 15m drop goal.

Harlow's U-15 team also triumphed 25-7 at their Datchworth counterparts.

Sonny Handscomb's early penalty gave the Young Rams the lead before Zac Chamaniou scored an unconverted try.

Dominic Lane added a second try, converted by Handscomb.

Datchworth hit back with a converted try after the break.

Handscomb's 30yd penalty made it 18-7 before the scoring was concluded by Lane's second try, again converted by Handscomb.

Harlow U-11s played their first games of the season on Sunday.

Harlow Vikings lost to Braintree A 17-0 and Harlow Saxons won against Braintree B 40-0.

THE Rams have been drawn away to Hemel Hempstead in the second round of the RFU Intermediate Cup on Saturday October 31.

Lulu's Miracle can flush out success

Welcome to Inside Track, our column that gives you the reader an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow (Friday October 9).

THERE are not many marathons which are available for graded greyhounds to run in, so the inclusion of one such contest this Friday makes a refreshing change.

The reason not too many are staged is that not many greyhounds truly stay the distance, which is the case for some of the field this time around.

One contestant which is sure to stay is the Bob

Boosey-trained LULU'S MIRACLE.

She has form at a much higher level over slightly shorter distances and her style of running leaves the impression that she will relish this step up.

Despite being a very slow starter, she can stay in touch during the early stages before piling on the pressure over the second half of the race.

On all known form, she should run out a comfortable winner.

HARLOW CEASAR arrived on these shores with a strong reputation and judging by his debut run he will be winning very soon. Perfectly drawn, he will take some beating at 9pm.

Others worth supporting include the ultra consistent DOGTOR ON CALL and the classy PRETTY DOON.

Selections:- 7.30pm Pump Up The Jam; 7.45pm Springwell Adam; 8pm White Wanda; 8.15pm Quivers Yankee; 8.30pm Dogtor On Call; 8.45pm Offshore Key; 9pm Harlow Ceasar; 9.15pm Droopys Pink; 9.30pm Pretty Doon; 9.45pm Droopys Jimmy; 10pm Lulu's Miracle; 10.15pm Baggies Boy.

Keeper's injury a blow for Harlow

OUT-field player Jordan Tovell was forced into goal for Harlow's trip to an experienced Maldon side when regular stopper Adam Johnson aggravated an ankle injury.

The visitors were also missing key defender Steve Jones (unavailable), with Stuart Kirk stepping into the breach.

Despite these set-backs, Harlow came away with a point and remain unbeaten from their first two games.

In difficult windy conditions, Maldon started the stronger of the teams and controlled a lot of possession but the defensive duo of Kyle Plumridge and

Maldon & Little Baddow 1, Harlow 1
East Men's Hockey League, div four south east

Ali Castle kept any chances to a minimum.

As the half wore on, Harlow made a series of unforced errors and eventually conceded a goal from a short corner.

At half-time, skipper Joe Symonds stressed to his side the need to keep their shape and maintain the passing game which had been so successful in the win over Wapping the previous week.

The game turned into a slightly scrappy affair in the second period with both teams struggling to create any clear chances.

However, Harlow did equalise midway through the half when Plumridge expertly converted a short corner by drag flicking straight down the middle of the goal and into the roof of the net before the goalkeeper could adjust his position to get a glove to it.

The visitors then grew in confidence but despite Chris Shearman-Slack creating a good chance late on for Rob Chandler, the scores remained level at the whistle.

HARLOW (squad): Tovell, Castle, Plumridge, Kirk, Symonds (c), Krzoska, Shearman-Slack, Smith, Ottley, Gorringer, Chandler.

Hawks leave Cats in a flap

Harlow Hawks 80,
Cambridge Cats 53

Herts County Basketball League, division one

NEWLY-promoted Cambridge Cats will have to take 'paws' for thought after this defeat on the opening day of the new Herts Basketball League season.

Hawks got the first points on the board off a Paul Jessop three-pointer before Cats made a couple of easy inside scores at Harlow Sportcentre on Friday evening.

Hawks responded with Mark Haddow using his size inside and going strong to the basket for a couple of scores.

Following a Cats score, a combination of baskets from Jessop, Shab Niaz and Haddow gave Hawks a 13-6 lead.

For the remainder of the quarter both teams traded baskets with Cats getting a lot of offensive rebounds or easy lay-ups, whereas Hawks hit most of their points from the outside with three-pointers coming from Mike Freeman, Dave Spashett and Jessop.

Hawks went into the first break with a 27-21 lead.

Neither team managed to make any headway as both scored 13 points each in the second quarter.

Hawks made the better start

FOCUS: Mark Haddow in action for Harlow Hawks (s)

with Jessop going to the line for a pair of free-throws and following that up with a three-pointer.

Cats then went on a 6-0 run to cut the Hawks' lead to a couple of points.

The Harlow side's defence improved for the last few minutes which led to a few turnovers resulting in fast break points.

But Cats managed to still stay in the game as they hit the final three points of the quarter and Hawks led 40-34 at half-time.

The hosts stepped up their defence another notch and executed better offence in this period.

The result of this was that Cats only managed a single score in the third minute of the quarter as Hawks went on a 15-2 with most of the points coming from Jessop.

However, for the last three minutes of the quarter, Hawks were unable to continue with this momentum as they only managed to add a further three points to their total while allowing six for Cats and going into the final break with a 59-43 lead.

In the final quarter, Harlow continued to play good defence and on the offensive end they moved the ball well for scores coming from Spashett, Russ Allan and Zaf Niaz as part of a 10-2 run to extend the lead further.

Another similar run in the last few minutes of the game allowed Hawks to seal an 80-53 victory.

Hawks coach Shab Niaz said: "Overall I'm happy that we were able to put in a good team performance and that everyone was able to contribute to it."

"However, we need to sharpen up when we are on floor with regards to positioning on either the defensive or offensive end, because at times people were unsure on what they should be doing. We need to correct this ahead of two consecutive weekends where we have back to back home games."

HARLOW HAWKS: Jessop (22pts), Freeman (13), Haddow (11), S. Niaz (7), Allan (6), Spashett (6), Moss (4), Z. Niaz (4), Burgess (3), Jones (2), Hinds (2), Burgess.

Monster times in Loch Ness race!

TWO Harlow Running Club members ran the Loch Ness Marathon and both produced 'monster' performances by running personal best (PB) times for the distance.

First home for Harlow in 30th place out of 2,173 runners was Alan Wise in a magnificent 2 hours 55 minutes and 27 seconds. He improved his PB by 12 minutes.

He was followed home by David Ayling in 236th place in 3:24.26, a PB by two minutes.

At the Manuden 10K race, fast-improving Adrian Fell ran a superb 41.15 to record a PB for this distance and finish in 11th place out of 212.

He was followed home by Jon Steadman in 42.19 and John Bull in 43.48. First Harlow woman to finish was Vicky Steadman in 47.59, followed by Clare Williams in 49.32.

Other HRC times: Pasquale Pellicchia 43.55; David Croly 45.28; Howard Gains 49.21; Peter Mills 53.20; Joanne Mills 55.54.

● HARLOW-based athletes competed in the Southend 3K fun run.

Ryan Dunne ran 8mins 45 secs for 7th, a minute behind winner Jonathan Kerridge who was second in the English Schools Cross Country Champs.

Amelia Barrett (13) was 9th girl in 10:13.

"But we are capable of beating most of the sides in this league. Our league position is not a fair reflection."

Meanwhile, Anstead revealed that striker Ashley Robinson, who played in the Coca-Cola Championship for Crystal Palace last season, has had offers from Japan, France and Belgium.

However, the forward will remain at Braxford Farm while he builds up his match fitness.

"He is not taking those offers. He enjoys playing for us. When he gets to the level he should be at there will be a lot of clubs interested," said Anstead.

Sign of the times

HAWKS boss Anthony Anstead is delighted with the capture of former Aveley midfielder Evong Tambeson – and could have two more new recruits in the side for Saturday's derby with Cheshunt at Barrows Farm.

The match is shaping up as a relegation crunch match with both sides struggling at the foot of the table.

Tambeson impressed in the first half of the 3-0 FA Trophy defeat to Leighton Town and Anstead has said he will definitely start in the Ryman division one north match at the weekend.

Boss swoops for midfielder and two could follow

The Harlow Town manager refused to name his other two hopefuls, but was running the rule over the pair in training this week.

"Tambeson is very competitive. He's an aggressive ball winner and that's probably what we lack," said the Hawks boss. "He acquitted himself well."

Midfielder James Edgerley begins his three-match ban and is ruled out of the Cheshunt clash, along with Tuesday's trip to Maldon Town.

Right-back Joe Clemo and centre-half

Michael Pelley serve their one-match bans on Tuesday in the Essex derby.

Anstead is desperate for a win on Saturday so his side can remove the psychological blow of being on minus points.

"If we finish a point above the relegation zone we have achieved what we set out to do."

"That will be a huge task for this club. I don't think the 10-point deduction will affect us. It was a big blow, but for now we are staying positive. If we win on Saturday that will take us to plus two (points) – so we will have wiped out the 10 points already."

Anstead played for Cheshunt for a short time and his assistant Glynn Mason was the manager for eight months in 2008-09.

Coach Anthony Ferguson was also at Theobalds Lane, as were several Harlow players.

But Anstead, pictured right, played down the incestuous nature of the match. "It's not about putting one over on an old colleague or opponent," he said.

Hawks in Trophy exit after second-half slump

WAITE FOR IT: Hawks keeper Jamie Waite was again in top form despite the disappointing FA Trophy exit (s)

IT was a tale of two halves as Harlow Town bowed out of the FA Trophy at the earliest stage.

Southern League Midlands division one side Leighton Town struck three times in the second half to move into the first round proper.

The Hawks gave a debut to former Aveley midfielder Evong Tambeson, who had been training with a side in the Malta League on the Mediterranean island.

Both sides had chances in the first half but Harlow keeper Jamie Waite made several good saves and had an outstanding match.

Hawks boss Anthony Anstead had vowed to use the game to try out different players and formations.

However, the back four had a more solid look about it in the first half as former Arsenal player Joe O'Cearuill and Ijah Anderson returned to the back four after missing the 7-0 drubbing at home to Concord Rangers, along with Waite.

Anstead also tried out winger Liam Wright on the opposite flank, but was most impressed with Tambeson, who only played the first half as he was kept fresh for Saturday's league derby against Cheshunt.

In the second 45, Anstead changed formation to 4-3-3 and sent on three substitutes but was disappointed with the team's performance.

He said: "It gave me the opportunity to try a few different things."

"The second half was disappointing. We had a few problems defensively. There is no shame in putting the ball out of the ground.

"As soon as we conceded we chased. As soon as you go behind in a cup game you have to over-commit."

Waite made two exceptional saves in the first 10 minutes to deny Kevin Higby.

Harlow coped well in the first half but were undone just two minutes into the second period.

Aston Goss found Dennis Fennymore and he tucked in from close range.

The Harlow custodian, who played for the Thailand U-23 team in their 4-1 win over French Ligue 1 former champions Paris St Germain last week, then made another top-notch save from Fennymore.

However, Ben Gallant doubled the hosts' lead with a shot from just outside the box on 76 minutes as the Harlow rearguard was again left exposed.

Leighton wrapped up the win on 89 minutes when Fennymore tucked home his second after Harlow failed to clear a corner.

HARLOW TN: Waite, Clemo, Anderson, O'Cearuill, Pelley, Wright, Tambeson, Mason, Robinson, Taylor-Forbes, Edgerley. Subs: J. Edwards, Malimbue, Akinnowo, Doolan.
